

No one is God, God is everyone

Let's take a theological approach to this one based on Western Christianity. To do so we need to take a look into the book of Christianity, The Holy Bible.

¹²The body is a unit, though it is made up of many parts; and though all its parts are many, they form one body. So it is with Christ. ¹³For we were all baptized by^[c] one Spirit into one body—whether Jews or Greeks, slave or free—and we were all given the one Spirit to drink.

¹⁴Now the body is not made up of one part but of many. ¹⁵If the foot should say, "Because I am not a hand, I do not belong to the body," it would not for that reason cease to be part of the body. ¹⁶And if the ear should say, "Because I am not an eye, I do not belong to the body," it would not for that reason cease to be part of the body. ¹⁷If the whole body were an eye, where would the sense of hearing be? If the whole body were an ear, where would the sense of smell be? ¹⁸But in fact God has arranged the parts in the body, every one of them, just as he wanted them to be. ¹⁹If they were all one part, where would the body be? ²⁰As it is, there are many parts, but one body.

~1 Corinthians 12:12-19 (NIV)

We are not God individually but we do have God potential in us. Collectively, we are the body of God where we need others in our life for fulfillment and companionship towards being whole and complete. If we are mean and nasty to one another, it's the same as if we are mean and nasty towards a part of God. And just like any tight knit family, you offend one member of the family, you've offended them all.

When it comes to our divinity, God deposited a part of Himself in each and every one of us. He was smart enough to not give us every ability under the sun. That would make us self-sufficient with pride while having a puffery attitude: 'don't you know who I think I am' mentality. And nobody wants an A-hole for a friend. If you notice, there are skills and abilities that you have and others don't. The same is true in reverse. Others have skills and abilities that you don't have.

"Everybody is born a genius, the process of living degeniuses you."

~Buck Minster Fuller

When God made us, He made us with genius abilities. God can not make something foreign unto Himself. God, who is a genius, can not make stupid. Although God gave us genius abilities, He did limit the abilities of our genius. You may have one piece of the puzzle; a second may have another; a third, yet another. You may be a hand, someone else a foot, and someone else an eye. Just because we're not the same, does not mean we're all that different in this body the Christians call a family. We can either be a part of the family or a stranger. The choice is yours.
